

Why Study Osteopathy?

If we should offer positive assurance that we could thoroughly qualify you in twenty months to practice a profession that would double, treble or quadruple your present income, your interest would be enlisted.

But of course we cannot guarantee that.

Yet ninety per cent. of the men or women who read this could probably make more money from the practice of Osteopathy in a single year than they now make in five.

The reason is simple. This is an age of specialists. The man or woman who knows one thing well, and follows it succeeds.

Osteopaths are specialists. They treat every curable disease successfully, but by natural methods, dissimilar to all other systems.

They have wrought such marvelous cures where all other systems failed that the new method of healing has been wonderfully popularized and given tremendous impetus.

Ten years ago Osteopathy was obscure. To-day it has the legal sanction of nearly half the states.

It furnishes unexampled opportunity to young men and women. Consider that there are less than 2,000 osteopathic physicians in the world. Half a million could find a great mission and great remuneration to-day.

Science is the simplicity of truth. Osteopathy is the simplicity of science. It does not concern itself so much with symptoms, but applies the axe to the cause of the disease.

"Get back to nature" is the slogan of modern medical progress. Osteopathy is nature's method.

We teach Anatomy, Histology, Physiology, Pathology, Chemistry, Symptomatology, and everything taught in the medical universities except materia medica, for which is substituted the principles and practice of osteopathy.

We have graduated and sent into the field a large number of physicians. They have won success. They conquer disease. And after a few months of meritorious practice they are established for life.

The Southern School of Osteopathy is one of the oldest and best of the osteopathic institutions. It is a member of the associated colleges. Its diplomas give you credentials to practice anywhere on earth.

It requires four terms of five months each to complete the course. Tuition $300. Classes open in September and February each year.

Ask us any question. We want you to know what osteopathy is—we will trust your intelligence for the rest.

A request will bring you literature.

A Child's Cry

Pierces the mother's heart like a sword. Often the mother who would do everything for the little one she loves, is utterly impotent to help and finds no help in physicians. That was the case with Mrs. Duncan, whose little one was almost blind with scrofula.

But fortunately she was led to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and so cured the child without resorting to a painful operation. The great blood-purifying properties of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery have been proved over and over again in cases of scrofula, eczema, eruptions and other diseases which are caused by an impure condition of the blood. It entirely eradicates the poisons which feed disease, and builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh.

"My little daughter became afflicted with scrofula, which affected her eyes," writes Mrs. Agnes J. Duncan, of Mansfield, Sebastian Co., Ark. "She could not bear the light for over a year. We tried to cure her eyes, but nothing did any good. We had our home physician and he advised us to take her to an oculist, as her eyelids would have to be 'scraped.' They had become so thick he thought she would never recover her sight. As there was no one else to whom we could apply my heart sank within me. I went to your Common Sense Medical Adviser, read your treatment on scrofula, getting the properties of medicines there advised. With five bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I have entirely cured my child."

"Hoping this will be of some use to you and a blessing to other sufferers, with heartfelt thanks, I remain."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are an excellent laxative for children. They are easy to take and thorough in action.

A Question of Ritual.

When a young minister of high church tendencies was called to preside over a congregation that abhorred ritualism, and was a stickler for the simplest of services, he called on Bishop Potter to ask what would be the result if he went into ritualism just a bit. "Suppose I should burn a pastille or two during the service; what do you think would happen, bishop, for I dearly wish to try the experiment?" "Your congregation would be incensed, your vestrymen would fume, and you would go out in smoke," replied the bishop.—N. Y. Times.

Dr. E. W. HALL,
St. Louis, Mo.

DEAR SIR:—I suffered ten years with severe kidney and bladder troubles and at times was unable to work. I was advised to try your Texas Wonder and after using one fourth of one bottle I passed a large gravel and I have never suffered since. I have recommended it to many others who reported themselves cured. I most heartily recommend it to all sufferers from kidney or bladder troubles.

Germany a Good Customer.

An examination of the statistics issued by the German government shows that articles from the United States formed, in 1891, 10.4 per cent. of her total imports for consumption, while in 1900 they formed 16.9 per cent. Of her exports, those to the United States in 1891 formed 10.7 per cent. of the total, and in 1900, 9.3 per cent.

HIS CRIME.

Cafe Party Hear the Confession of a Burdened Conscience.

A little coterie of friends were standing in a downtown cafe a few evenings ago, when a seedy individual sauntered in and took a seat near by, says the Washington Post. He listened attentively to the conversation and occasionally cast a wistful eye towards the strangers as they quaffed their potations. One of the men finally spoke to the newcomer and asked him what he wanted.

"I merely came in here out of force of habit," the latter replied. "I am accustomed to paying visits to places like this and I always feel more at home than in a hardware store or a gent's (gentlemen's, I should more properly) furnishing emporium."

The apparent ease with which the newcomer expressed himself attracted the attention of the group of strangers and they began pressing him with questions.

"You are a man of more than ordinary intelligence and I am at a loss to understand why you should be in your present plight," said one.

"I wish you would not talk to me in that manner," said the newcomer. "I have troubles of my own—troubles greater than you can possibly have any idea of."

"And what are they?" queried another.

"For a long time I have had something on my mind that I have felt it as a duty to confess," he began.

"What?" broke in one of his listeners. "Can it be that you have committed some—"

"Crime; yes, that's it. I have committed a serious crime against the public and I realize that I am amenable to the law. I have refrained from making a confession, a clean breast of it, fearing the punishment that must surely be my reward."

"A murder?" suggested one of the listeners.

"No, it's not quite so bad as that, but it is bad enough."

"Pray, then what are you guilty of?" asked another.

"Well, you see it was like this. Seven years ago I was married. I had every reason to believe that I was marrying only one woman, the one stipulated in the license. A few months later I found—hear me, I know you will not think harshly of me—that I had married the whole family of a mother, father, three sisters and two brothers. It was a terrific blow to me. I found there was no use. I quit and have been a wanderer ever since. I have felt that I could look none of my fellow men in the face until I could make a confession. Give me over to the law if you will. I am ready to do penance."

The way he made this confession attracted to him the sympathy of his listeners. Another round was ordered and still another. An hour later the newcomer shuffled down the street muttering to himself that it was better to be born lucky or a humorist than rich.

CRUDE OIL.

Used in California for the Sprinkling of Streets.

One of the benefits growing out of the enormous supply of crude oil which is now found in so many parts of the country is the possibility of using it for sprinkling and thereby laying the dust not only on railroads but in the cities, and perhaps most of all on the country roads in those sections where rain occurs only at intervals. Its success upon railroads has been thoroughly demonstrated, and although at first its use in cities was deprecated because of the supposed deleterious effects upon rubber tires, it is now claimed that this objection has been overcome. Quite a number of the cities in California are using oil for sprinkling purposes, and it is found much cheaper than water. The advantage to the railroad aside from the laying of dust on the right of way is that a general use for sprinkling purposes will add materially to the traffic of the road, and from that standpoint should be encouraged.—Railway and Engineering Review.

Vine Culture in Chili.

Vine culture and the production of wines has in recent years become an important industry in the republic of Chili. Lying as it does between the Andes mountains and the Pacific ocean, and extending north and south for a distance of 2,400 miles, Chili possesses conditions of soil and climate that are admirably adapted to horticulture, and especially to the cultivation of a variety of wine-producing grapes.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is commended by Statesmen, Professional men and thousands of others prominent in the world's activities, for its fine discrimination in sifting the actual news from conflicting report and the presentation of current events in their just proportion. They comment on its freedom from daily-paper sensationalism. All men and women who want to know what the world is doing find it an intellectual necessity, to judge from the letters received from hundreds. Its editorials are comprehensive, and labor saving to the busy man or woman. Its timely contributions on important topics are by the best-informed writers. Its reviews of other magazines give the best of their best work. It is profusely illustrated.

These letters will enable all thoughtful men and women to judge of its value to them:

PRESIDENT "I know that through its columns views have been presented to me that I could not otherwise have had access to; because all earnest and thoughtful men, no matter how widely their ideas diverge, are given free utterance in its columns."—Theodore Roosevelt.

EX-PRESIDENT "I consider it a very valuable addition to my library."—Grover Cleveland.

"It is a publication of very great value. I have sometimes found there very important matter indeed which I should not otherwise have discovered."—George F. Hoar, U. S. Senator, Massachusetts.

Send for particulars as to how it can be had with an invaluable set of books for 50 cents a month.
